

Notes 3

What is a graphical user interface (GUI)?

- A graphical user interface lets you interact with a computer using windows, icons, menus, and buttons.

What is a desktop environment?

- A desktop environment provides the graphical interface and tools for using a computer.

What is the command line interface (CLI)?

- A command line interface lets you interact with a computer by typing commands.

How do I access the command line interface (CLI)?

- You can access the CLI by opening a terminal emulator or using a virtual console.

What is a virtual console?

- A virtual console is a text-based screen where you can log in and use Linux commands.

What is a terminal emulator?

- A terminal emulator is a program that lets you use the CLI through a graphical window.

What is bash?

- Bash is a command-line shell that interprets and executes commands.

What is the shell prompt?

- The shell prompt is the symbol or text that shows the shell is ready for you to enter a command.

clear

- Definition: clears the terminal screen
- Usage: `clear`
- Example: to clear screen `clear` echo

- Definition: Displays text on the screen
- Usage: `echo` + option string to display
- Example: how to display a line of text `echo "hello"` date

- Definition: `date` displays the current date and time

- Usage:to find the date
- Example:you want to know the date of today run the `date` command

free

- Definition:`free` displays information about the computers memory(RAM)usage
- Usage: to know your computer memory
- Example: you want to know the ram if your run `free -h` it will make it readable

uname

- Definition:`uname` displays information about the operating system and kernel
- Usage:used to find system and kernel information
- Example:like `uname -a` displays detailed information about the system

history

- Definition:`history` displays previously entered commands
- Usage:to find the history of what you typed in your terminal
- Example: trying to find what command you used after you cleared your terminal

man

- Definition:displays the manuel page for a command
- Usage:to find commands in the manuel
- Example: `man ls` it opens a manuel for `ls` commands

tldr

- Definition:provides examples and explanations for commands
- Usage:used to quickly learn how to use a command.
- Example:like `tldr ls` it shows you how to use the `ls` command cheat

- Definition:Provides a quick cheat sheet for a command.
- Usage:Used to quickly find common options and examples for commands.
- Example:`cheat ls` displays a cheat sheet containing useful examples

hostname

- Definition:Displays the name of the computer.
- Usage:used to find the computer's hostname.
- Example:if you want to know your computers name just use `hostname`

df

- Definition:Displays disk space usage.
- Usage:Used to check how much disk space is used and available.
- Example:if you want to know the disk space you could use `df -h` du

- Definition:displays the disk space used by files and directories.
- Usage:used to find how much storage a file or directory is using.
- Example:`du -sh` if you want to know the amount of disk space used by the Documents directory

figlet

- Definition:displays text using large ASCII-art characters.
- Usage:used to create large decorative text in the terminal.
- Example:If you want a word to look nice you could use `figlet`